☐ This opinion has been established on the basis of a translation from the original language into the following language _____, which is the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of international search (under Rule 12.3 and 23.1(b)).
2. With regard to any nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence disclosed in the international application and necessary to the claimed invention, this opinion has been established on the basis of:
 - a. type of material
☐ a sequence listing
☐ table(s) related to the sequence listing
 - b. format of material
☐ in written format
☐ in computer readable form
 - c. time of filing/furnishing
☐ contained in the international application as filed.
☐ filed together with the international application in computer readable form.
☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority for the purposes of search.
3. ☐ In addition, in the case that more than one version or copy of a sequence listing and/or table(s) relating thereto has been filed or furnished, the required statements that the information in the subsequent or additional copies is identical to that in the application as filed or does not go beyond the application as filed, as appropriate, were furnished.

Box No. III

Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

The questions whether the claimed invention appears to be novel, to involve an inventive step (to be non obvious), or to be industrially applicable have not been examined in respect of:

☐ the entire international application

☒ claims Nos. 17

because:

☒ the said international application, or the said claims Nos. 17 relate to the following subject matter which does not require an international preliminary examination (specify):

See supplemental sheet

☐ the description, claims or drawings (indicate particular elements below) or said claims Nos. _____
are so unclear that no meaningful opinion could be formed (specify):

☐ the claims, or said claims Nos. _____ are so inadequately supported by the description that no meaningful opinion could be formed.

☐ no international search report has been established for said claims Nos. _____

☐ the nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence listing does not comply with the standard provided for in Annex C of the Administrative Instructions in that:

the written form

☐ has not been furnished

☐ does not comply with the standard

the computer readable form

☐ has not been furnished

☐ does not comply with the standard

☐ the tables related to the nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence listing, if in computer readable form only, do not comply with the technical requirements provided for in Annex C-bis of the Administrative Instructions.

☐ See Supplemental Box for further details.

Reference is made to the following documents:

D1: US2003/0003511

D2: DE19909770

D3: US2003/0119057

Document D1 is considered the closest prior art over the subject matter of claims 1-19. It discloses (the references between parentheses relate to this document): sealing bacterial ghosts using vesicles. The method claimed according to claim 1 therefore differs from the known method(s) by using binding pairs showing bioaffinity on the surface of the bacterial ghosts and the sealing vesicle. The subject matter of claim 1 and of dependent claims 2-13, the product claims for the sealed bacterial ghosts (claims 14-16) and the claims to use of the ghosts in medicine, agriculture or biotechnology (claims 17-19) is therefore novel (PCT Article 33(2)).

The problem addressed by the present invention can therefore be considered that of improving the effectiveness of sealing bacterial ghosts. The solution proposed to this problem in claim 1 of the present application involves an inventive step (PCT Article 33(3)) for the following reasons:

By charging the still-open ghost with a partner of a binding pair showing bioaffinity and charging the carrier material used for the sealing with the other partner of the binding pair, a preferred addition of the carrier material used for the sealing to the ghosts occurs and thus faster and better sealing of the ghost opening. Such binding pairs showing bioaffinity have already been used in connection with bacterial ghosts, but not in order to seal them, but to achieve retention of the active compound to be packaged into the
